FACULTY OF POLITICAL SCIENCES

Our Departments of Economics, Management, Political Science and Public Administration, and International Relations offer our students the opportunity to build a distinguishing future in the exceptional environment of Istanbul, the city where economy, culture, and history meet.

Education in our Faculty is not only limited to undergraduate studies; graduate studies is another area of focus, which ensures that our bachelor students with academic career goals can enjoy a better education and research environment for further studies.

Our Faculty provides globally integrated education through national and international student exchange programs such as FARABI and ERASMUS, which allow students to maintain a part of their academic life in different cultural environments.

Another important attractive quality of our Faculty for students is that our University is located in a central area in Istanbul, which is known as a significant global cross-road of culture and civilization, and at a transport hub that is easily accessible by multiple modes of transport.

DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMICS

Our Department of Economics mainly aims to train individuals in a modern educational environment to serve in national and international positions and alumni with the knowledge, skills, and competence to accommodate themselves to information society.

Another distinguishing quality of our curriculum is that it provides the students with the skills to conduct economic analyses and develop approaches at the scales of individual, society, and system by taking into account the developments from past to the present.

DEPARTMENT OF MANAGEMENT

The curricula of our Department of Management have been developed to train professional executives with effective communication and personal skills who always seek to improve themselves with social responsibility awareness.

Upon graduation, our students will have acquired the knowledge and skills required by corporations.

DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE AND PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

Our Department of Political Science and Public Administration aims to train innovative and inquisitive individuals for public and private sectors and civil society and to conduct research that will significantly contribute to the disciplines of Political Science and Public Administration in an increasingly articulated world.

In this context, it seeks to offer its students both the theoretical and practical knowledge in Political Science and Public Administration, and the debates on the recent problems in politics and administration through strong communication.

DEPARTMENT OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Our Department of International Relations aims to train students with awareness about the world they live in and its problems through its curricula that mainly focus on subjects of International Relations including history of the international system and its historical phases, functioning of its economic, political, and legal aspects, relations of the governments that form this system and our country's position in it and its relations.
